

Fall 2015

NANOFANS

FORUM

"Bridging Biology & Nanotechnology"

Event Focus: Current Trends in Ophthalmology

Thursday,
October 29, 2015
11 AM—3:00 PM
Marcus Building
Conference Room,
GaTech - IEN
345, Ferst Dr. Atlanta, GA

For more Info contact:

Dr. Paul Joseph,
paul.joseph@ien.gatech.edu ,
(678) 796-3606

11:00 AM - Welcome

11:10 —11:50 AM

"Diagnosis and treatment of early stage diabetic retinopathy "

- Dr. Mabelle Pardue, Professor of Biomedical Engineering at Georgia Tech & Atlanta VA Medical Center

11:50 —12:30 PM

"Micro- & Nanotechnology for the Diagnosis and Treatment of Ocular Tumors "

- Dr. Hans Grossniklaus, Professor of Ophthalmology and Pathology at Emory Eye Center

12:30 - 1:00 PM - Lunch Break

1:00 —1:40 PM

"Drug delivery targeted to the eye using microneedles"

- Dr. Mark Prausnitz, Professor of Chemical & Biomolecular Engineering at the Georgia Tech

1:40 —2:20 PM

"Structure and misfolding of glaucoma-associated myocilin "

- Dr. Raquel Lieberman, Associate Professor of Chemistry & Biochemistry at Georgia Tech

2:20 - 3:00 PM - IEN Cleanrooms/ Labs Tour

To make lunch reservation (lunch at no cost), please register at <http://fall2015nanofans.doattend.com/> before October 23, 2015

Institute for Electronics and Nanotechnology

