

CERP presents ...

TOPIC: Are you a Community or Academic Potential Researcher Seeking a Partner?

Real change in health status of communities depends upon strong partnerships between communities and academic researchers. How are these partnerships developed?

The session is FREE of charge. Space is limited, so RSVP now to reserve your seat.

Friday, January 27, 2017 - 1:00 P.M. – 4:00 P.M.

Location: Metropolitan Branch,
Atlanta-Fulton County Library System
1332 Metropolitan Parkway. SW
Atlanta, GA 30310

During this session, participants will:

1. Learn about some innovative programs to improve the health of communities in metro Atlanta and across the state;
2. Hear from novice and experienced researchers;
3. Learn what worked and what did not work for some programs; and
4. Gain some insight for finding the best partner for you.

REGISTER NOW. RSVP to Gail G. McCray – 404.752.1645 OR gmcrcray@msm.edu.

Required Information. PLEASE include your NAME, contact information -- Phone and E-mail Address. Also include your Organization's name and your title.

Please go to the website for more information on future activities from CERP. <http://www.actsi.org/>

This skill-building session is presented by The Community Engagement and Research Program (CERP) Core of the Georgia Clinical and Translational Science Institute (CERP/GaCTSI).