Dear Georgia CTSA Supported Investigator,

As a recipient of support from the Georgia Clinical & Translational Science Alliance (Georgia CTSA), the National Institutes of Health's (NIH) funded Clinical and Translational Science Award, you are subject to the NIH Public Access Policy and must cite the Georgia CTSA grant number in all products including presentations, publications, and patent applications.

Please cite all your work as follows:

Supported by the National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences of the National Institutes of Health under Award Number UL1TR002378

Citing the Georgia CTSA is a key metric used the NIH to evaluate and document the impact of our support of your research. Your cooperation is critical to our continued funding and success. Please double check the award numbers before submission.

For more information on the NIH Public Access Policy and to ensure your continued compliance, please visit: <https://publicaccess.nih.gov/>

For assistance or questions, please contact Eric Nehl at enehl@emory.edu or 404-727-9445.

Thank you again for the opportunity to support you and your research endeavors. We remain committed to helping you meet your clinical and translational science goals.

Sincerely,

W. Robert Taylor, MD, PhD
