NCATS – CTSA Webinar Series

Non-dilutive funding opportunities for research entrepreneurs

Are you an aspiring research entrepreneur or small business seeking non-dilutive funding opportunities? Join the National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences \(NCATS\) and experts for a two-part webinar series on small business funding opportunities. Learn more about non-dilutive Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer (SBIR/STTR) funding and resources to help small businesses advance and commercialize promising translational biotech and life sciences research technologies. You'll learn about NCATS' key research focus areas, tips for submitting a successful application, upcoming funding opportunities and other NCATS resources and programs.

There will also be a coach from Eva Garland Consulting who has expertise in preparing NIH SBIR/STTR applications and an exclusive SBIR/STTR Bioscience Company Showcase, that will provide application experience along with tips and recommendations to future applicants. You can ask questions during a dedicated Q&A session and meet the experts. See more information on registration and timing below.
